

Day 17 – The Last Day in London

Our day started with getting up and having breakfast in our hotel. We all had to take our suitcases and stuff down to the coach because it was our last day in London. After that we all walked to the tube and got maps for its system. We had to figure out what line we have to choose to get to the station Knightsbridge. Once we arrived there we split into three groups. One group went to the Natural History Museum, one to the Science Museum and another one to the Victoria and Albert Museum. We could explore them on our own and we think everyone learned something they hadn't known before. Unfortunately, we only had one hour to explore so we couldn't see everything. However, it was still a wonderful experience since we all learned many interesting new things. Our groups met at Piccadilly Circus and we all got freetime in London to go shopping, visit sights or just explore the beautiful city. We again met at six o'clock at a pizza restaurant and ate pizza together which was really delicious. At 7:45 we all sat in the Lyceum Theatre – a very big theatre, where we watched the musical named „The Lion King“. It was breathtaking. The actors were amazing. They were not only good at acting, they also sang and danced very well. We all really enjoyed watching the performance and we're sure we will remember this day for a very long time. When the musical was over we all went to the coach and started our journey back to Germany.
