Morning

In the morning we went to school. The lessons were very interesting. For lunch the school gave us the same sandwiches as yesterday. Some of us don't like them so much but the apples and the crisps are delicious. Our teacher Anna told us that we should complain to get a chocolate bar.

This is our school:

After school we went to Brixham by bus. On our way we listened to a podcast about Devon. Everybody produced a podcast about one topic before our trip. In addition, we learned some facts about Sir Francis Drake.

Brixham is a little town by the sea with a harbour. We looked at a sailing ship – the "Golden Hind" there. I think it is very cool that we were given freetime and could go wherever we wanted to. We saw some seagulls and swans which we don't know how they got there, but that will probably be a mystery forever.

Fun Facts about Brixham

In the Middle Ages, Brixham was the largest fishing port in the south-west of England.

Hundreds of ships have been wrecked on the stones around the town.

The town's outer harbour is protected by a long breakwater, useful for sea angling.

In winter this is a site for purple sandpiper birds.
